RESONANCE is a symposium for audiologists, hearing aid dispensers, and other hearing health professionals offered by the House Institute. This isn't just another CEU opportunity; it's a dynamic, multidisciplinary experience designed to spark connection, curiosity, and clinical growth. RESONANCE seeks to stand out by bringing together physicians, audiologists, researchers, educators, and patient advocates to explore the full continuum of hearing health. From cutting-edge diagnostics to compassionate care models, every session is grounded in real-world impact, interdisciplinary collaboration, and actionable insights you can use right away.
